

DEADLY AND DANGEROUS

Redback

Prefers dry & sheltered areas under houses, toilets, garages & rubbish area. May or may not have red mark

Spur

Long Spinnerets

Male Funnel Web Female Funnel Web

Favours moist dark areas. Spur on second pair of legs. Active during later summer, autumn.

White Tail

Cigar shaped bdy. Found under bark of trees, litter, crevices outside and moist areas inside.

TOXIC AND POISONOUS

Wolf Spider

Union jack on cephalothorax. Inhabits garden, making holes in the ground. Moves very fast when disturbed

Long Spinnerets

Male Mouse Spider Female Mouse Spider

Roams looking for the female. Toxic and fangs can cause painful bite.

Often mistaken for Sydney funnel web. Lives in the ground. Toxic and fangs can cause painful bite

Common Black House Spider

Makes an untidy felted web. Likes rockwalls, sheds, toilets, window frames & guttering

LOW RISK SPIDERS

Saint Andrew's Cross

Not toxic. hangs in web in shape of cross

Male Trap-Door Female Trap-Door

Can be mistaken as funnel web. Lives in ground. Not toxic. Bites are painful

Huntsman

First two pairs of legs longer than rear two. Not toxic. Might cause painful bite.

Garden Orb - Weaver

Hides in foliage during day. Not toxic. Seldom bites

